| Why we are proposing the change                | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Council has received concerns from the public regarding vehicles parking in a manner that obstructs access for buses and emergency service vehicles.</li><li>• Council officers inspected Moana Road and determined that much of the access issue is attributable to poor parking behaviour rather than the road layout itself. However, officers identified that the section of road between No. 17 and No. 29 is of insufficient width to safely accommodate parking on both sides while maintaining adequate access for passing vehicles in particular buses and emergency service vehicles.</li><li>• Council's standard practice is to restrict parking to one side of the road where the carriageway width is less than 6.9 metres. Much of this section of Moana Road is significantly narrower than this minimum requirement, making parking on both sides unsuitable for the road function to maintain accessibility.</li><li>• Council contacted Metlink, which advised that its bus drivers have experienced ongoing difficulties navigating Moana Road.</li><li>• To mitigate the ongoing obstruction issues, officers are proposing a stretch of broken yellow lines as per the attached plan.</li></ul> |

| Other options considered                       | Option 1: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Moana Road has been assessed along its full length, and officers have determined that the primary accessibility issues are generally related to parking behaviour rather than the road layout itself. However, within the section of Moana Road addressed in this report, these issues are exacerbated by a particularly narrow section of roadway that cannot safely accommodate parking on both sides of the street. Other options along Moana Road were considered such as installing L-bar adjacent to driveways but will not prevent vehicles parking on both sides of the road to maintain accessibility.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
